

Text Message Conversation

Use the text message conversation worksheet to practice texting or messaging.

Choose two people to have the conversation.

Let each person select an image to represent his conversation

The person using AAC can use the speech-generating device to construct a text message. It can be entered on the worksheet using computer controls on the device, using voice typing in Google Docs, or by a helper.

One person begins the conversation by setting the topic in his text bubble; the other person responds using his designated text bubble.

Check to see if the conversation includes: Greetings...questions...comments...
